

Datix is a software services company based in St. Louis, MO, USA. As authorized reseller of Epicor 9 software, we specialize in helping businesses migrate to Epicor 9 for process management. We also provide a wide range of Epicor 9 support and business consulting services. We serve clients throughout North and South America.

During our 14 years in operation, we have worked with clients in a wide range of industries. Our unique approach to optimizing business processes can be applied to almost any industry.

As part of our initial consulting service, we create a visual roadmap of your business to help determine areas for improvement that can be achieved through software augmentation. This Process Based Implementation takes a holistic view of your entire business and then demonstrates how Epicor 9 can be tailored to streamline your business processes, thereby increasing efficiency and productivity. Once we have implemented your new system, we provide long-term software and staff support until the transition is complete.

Our Process Based Implementation helps us to simplify discovery, organize all processes, create a visual road map, and to validate each stage of your business processes. Using a visual map of your business, we can translate your goals into software features and demonstrate how our proposed changes will optimize your entire business process.
